- ☐ Planning Requirements (see pages 4 & 5)

All building permits are reviewed by the RDEK Planning Department for conformity with RDEK zoning regulations, floodplain management bylaws and the Agricultural Land Commission Act & Regulations. Applicants must ensure that all other required approvals (RDEK, Agricultural Land Commission or other) are received prior to permit issuance.

DEVELOPMENT SERVICES

PLANNING REQUIREMENTS

Building Permits are reviewed by the RDEK Planning Department for compliance with applicable zoning regulations, floodplain management bylaws and the Agricultural Land Commission Act & Regulations. The planning review or plan check process happens before review of the application by a RDEK Building Official, however the non-refundable Building Permit application fee as required by the Building Regulation Bylaw must be paid upon application submission.

AGRICULTURAL LAND RESERVE

Is your property located within the Agricultural Land Reserve (ALR)?

☐ YES, confirmation attached ☐ NO

If unsure, look up if your property is in the ALR - <https://www.alc.gov.bc.ca/alr-maps/>

If YES, the Agricultural land Reserve Use Regulation outlines permitted farm uses and non-farm uses for your property. The ALC provides interpretation of activities and uses within the ALR. More information can be found here: ALC Policies and Bulletins - Provincial Agricultural Land Commission \(gov.bc.ca\)

Size limits and restrictions apply to all non-farm uses, including housing and residential accessory buildings (e.g. second residences, detached garages, shops, personal greenhouses etc). Approval of the Agricultural Land Commission (ALC) for a non-adhering residential use, Non-Farm Use or Notice of Intent (NOI) for accessory structures is required prior to authorization of your building permit by the RDEK.

A Notice of Intent (NOI) to allow for the placement or removal of soil or fill may also be required by the ALC prior to the construction or placement of your proposed building or structure, including for accessory residential use structures. More information can be found here: Accessory-Residential-Use-Structures-in-the-ALR-Guidelines.pdf \(gov.bc.ca\)

If you have questions about ALC requirements or whether approval is required for your proposed building or structure, contact ALC staff directly at:

Phone: 604-660-7000
E-mail: ALC.Kootenay@gov.bc.ca
Toll-Free (BC only): 1-800-663-7867

ALC Confirmation Required:

Confirmation of approval from the ALC must be provided to the RDEK prior to the Building Permit application being reviewed or processed. A delay in providing the confirmation of approval will result in a delay in the review and issuance of your Building Permit.

Proposed building or structure requires ALC approval:

Specify Type of ALC Approval: _____

☐ YES, confirmation attached ☐ NO

Proposed construction requires a Notice of Intent (NOI) Approval from the ALC for placement or removal of soil/fill:

☐ Yes, NOI approval letter attached ☐ NO

Proposed Setbacks:	Front	Side	Side	Rear
Proposed Building:	Type		Size
Height:	Maximum Permitted		Proposed

Refer to the RDEK website www.rdek.bc.ca/bylaws/ocp_zoning_landuse/ for the zoning bylaw in your area. All setbacks must also be indicated on the plot plan and are required to conform to the zoning bylaw.

OTHER APPLICATIONS THAT MAY BE REQUIRED:

☐ Development Permit Application Submitted

In addition to a Building Permit, you may need to apply for a Development Permit if your property is within a Development Permit Area, identified in a RDEK Official Community Plan (OCP).

A Development Permit may be required for wildfire hazard, steep slopes, form & character (commercial & multi-family development), and/or environmentally sensitive areas (ESAs) (e.g. Shoreline, riparian areas, connectivity area, old growth forest).

OCPs include sections that outline the relevant Development Permit guidelines and have map schedules that show where some Development Permit Areas are in effect. OCPs are available on the RDEK website at: www.rdek.bc.ca/bylaws/ocp_zoning_landuse/.

Processing of a Development Permit can occur concurrently with Building Permit review but may result in a delay in issuance of the Building Permit.

☐ Development Variance Permit Application Submitted

If you are unable to meet a requirement of the zoning regulations, e.g. setback or height requirements, a variance to the applicable bylaw may be required in order to proceed. Variances should only be considered due to special parcel specific circumstances or limitations and efforts should be made to bring your proposal into conformity with the Bylaw regulations.

If a variance application is required, confirm that you have already submitted a Development Variance Permit Application to the RDEK. If not already approved, the processing of a variance application will result in a delay of the issuance of the Building Permit.

SECTION 5 – DECLARATION AND OWNER AUTHORIZATION

If the permit applied for is granted, I / we agree:

- (a) to conform and be bound by the requirements of all relevant statutes, regulations, rules, orders in council and bylaws of the Province of British Columbia and the Regional District of East Kootenay (RDEK), including but not limited to, the BC Building Code and the RDEK Building Regulation Bylaw.
- (b) neither the issuance of a permit under this Bylaw, the review and acceptance of the design, drawings, plans or specifications, nor inspections made by a Building & Protective Services official, shall constitute a representation or warranty that the Building Code or the Bylaw have been complied with or the building, structure or plumbing system meets any standard of materials or workmanship, and no person shall rely on any of those acts as establishing compliance with the Building Code or this Bylaw or any standard of construction.
- (c) that the information we provided on Page 2 of this application regarding the history of the property with respect to commercial or industrial activities is correct to the best of my/our knowledge.
- (d) Personal information contained on this form is collected under the Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act and will be used only for the purpose of processing the permit application. For questions or additional information, contact the RDEK FOI Coordinator at 250-489-2791.

I / we have read the above agreement, release and indemnify and understand it.
